Pages

You can add new pages on the web site.

The pages are classified in different subcategories.

To create a page:

select the correct category corresponding to your page,
enter the page name,
click on the Add page button.
Subcategories / Packages

You can also create a subcategory to group pages together. A category is represented by a namespace. This functionality can be used for instance if you want to create several pages for a package.

To create a new subcategory:

choose a category to add the subcategory,
specify the new subcategory name,
and click on the Add namespace button.

You will then be able to add new pages to this particular subcategory.

Nota: When creating a subcategory, you create a default page associated to it. This page is automatically displayed when you select the subcategory.

Editing an existing page

Nota: Some pages are protected and cannot be edited.
